

THE 1957 METEOR

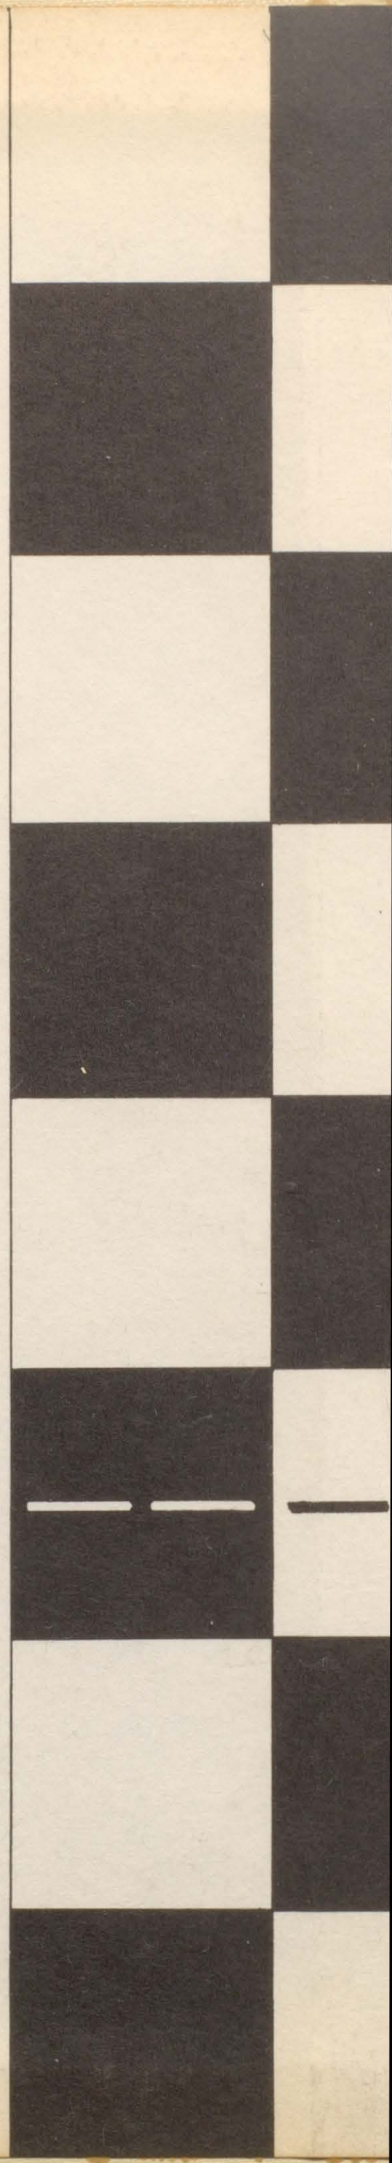

The heroes of ancient and modern fame . . .
have treated life and fortune as a game to be well and skillfully played.

—EMERSON

A place in the ranks awaits you,
Each man has some part to play.

A black and white photograph of a street scene. In the foreground, there is a dirt or gravel path. To the left, a large tree with many small leaves branches out. To the right, another tree is visible. In the background, there is a building with a flat roof and a car parked on the street. The sky is light and overcast.

PRELIMINARY TO THE GAME

The chessboard is the world, the pieces are the phenomena of the universe, the rules of the game are what we call the laws of Nature.

The player on the other side is hidden from us. We know that his play is always fair, just, and patient. But also we know, to our cost, that he never overlooks a mistake, or makes the smallest allowance for ignorance.

DEDICATION

Doc —

We sincerely dedicate the 1957 Meteor to you. Your record of unfailing service and generous advice have made you a source of pride and inspiration to us all. Never can we forget your enthusiastic participation in so many of our school activities. So in humble appreciation of your efforts, we are honoring you with a slight indication of our regards.

W. M. WRIGHT

Chess has always represented a war between kings; the playing board is the battlefield . . . It is most simply explained by Josephine:

“Upon the battleground of heaven and hell I palsied stand.”

The pieces are set up, awaiting your inspection . . . Following the review, the game will begin.

THE BATTLEFIELD

In the royal game of chess, when a pawn, or foot soldier, safely reaches the opposite end of the board, he graduates to a higher ranking piece . . . The graduates of W.H.S., looking back, may wonder, as Tennyson did:

“Do we move ourselves, or are moved by an unseen hand . . .?”

Although we are the pieces played, we also play the game; while we are moved by The Grandmaster Himself, we may be considered chess players in another level of the game.

Terence sums it up:

“Life is like a game of tables, the chances are not in our power, but the playing is.”

In W.H.S. there are four classes of players: Novices, Amateurs, Experts, and Masters. We present to you first the promoted pawns . . .

ATTENDANTS OF THE BOARD

Mr. James L. Barnes, Maintenance Superintendent, stands in the school repair shop amidst an array of tools necessary to the upkeep of W.H.S.

Every square and corner of the chess-board which we call high school is kept polished to a luster by an able staff of attendants. Theoretically, sixty-four squares should constitute a working day. However, in the game of life, each move consists of an infinite number of moves which occur simultaneously; each square is subdivided into sixty-four squares, ad infinitum. The number of tasks is endless; the game as a whole is endless, for every checkmate constitutes an initial move.

Soon fades the spell,
 Soon comes the night;
 Say will it not be then the same,
 Whether we played the black or white,
 Whether we lost or won the game?
—Macaulay

A "time out" is called nightly as we organize to plan for the many different areas of the oncoming play.

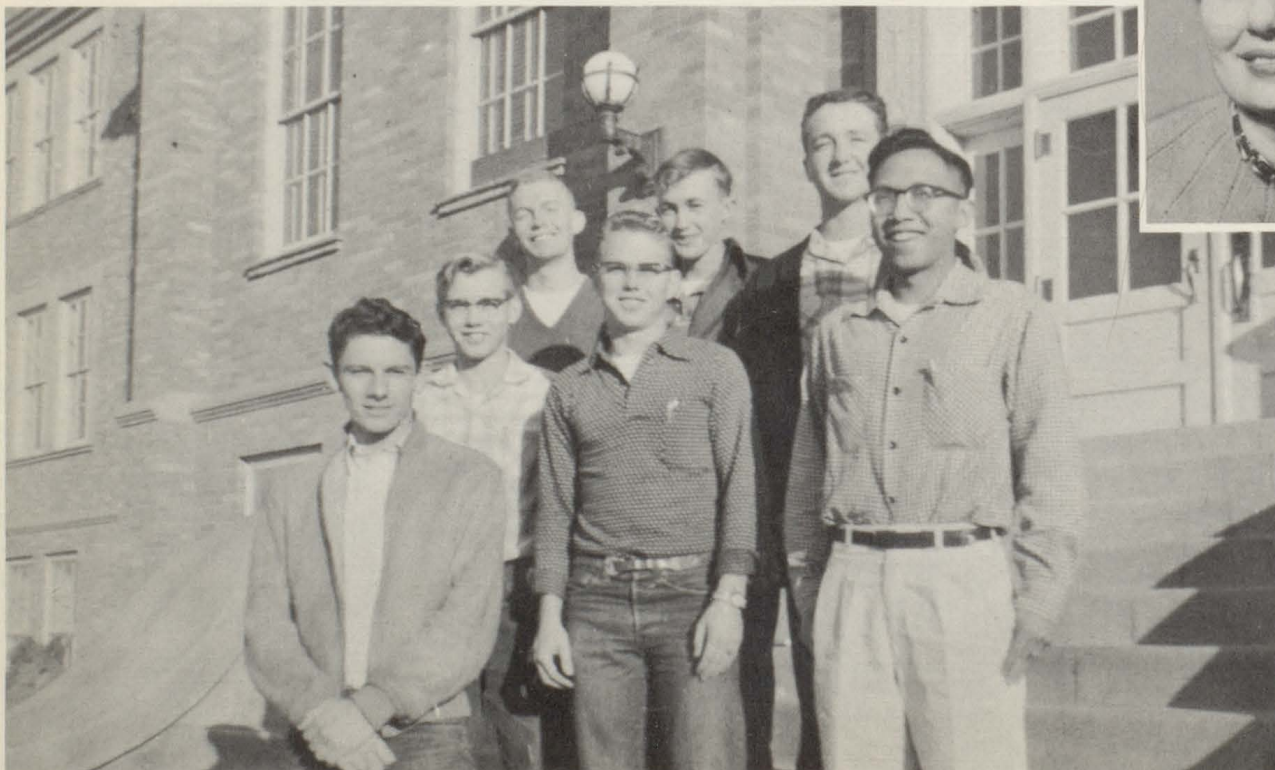

Every square on the vast playing board of life has its own individual significance in relationship to the game as a whole. In W.H.S. all tactics are considered; as a result, we, the King's men of Winslow High, exercise a scope which extends to the central squares of the chessboard. On the following pages are the reasons for such a broad scope . . .

In W.H.S., it is the drama director's problem to arrange the cast on the stage in artificial positions that appear natural. Curtain is usually accomplished in a specific number of three acts. The acting and stage setting involve elements of planning and beauty. Rather than read a book, we can now see and live the part in expectation of every scene. So it is with the mood of a play.

FINAL SCENE

When Mary's crimes are discovered by the group, she attempts to escape, but is stopped by "Shotput," as the others look on stunned by the recent happenings. Left to right: B. Beasley, S. Hancock, R. Robson, P. VanderValk, R. Bowler.

Johnny Hynes and Sandy Clark enact a dramatic scene in the tense courtroom where most of the action takes place.

Winslow began its '56 football season auspiciously, rolling over Flagstaff for an easy victory. The only mar was the injury to key quarterback Terry Lacy, who broke his collarbone. W.H.S. did feature a good passing attack in addition to a methodical ground game.

Holbrook was soundly thrashed as the Bulldogs completely dominated the game. The Belton brothers ran wild, scoring half the total points. Winslow seemed to be well on the way to another conference championship.

Then the roof fell. In quick succession the Bulldogs dropped conference tilts to Chandler, Tempe, and Glendale. Injuries kept the Winslow squad from playing at its peak performance, but bad breaks seemed to add fuel to the fire. For example, Winslow out-played Glendale but lost 6-13.

With the addition of a recovered Terry Lacy, the Bulldog Bulldozer flattened Prescott, Sunnyslope, and Tolleson. Again the Belton brothers scored half the total points. Joe Gallegos, Paul Reynolds, Arden McRae, Charles Rose, Jerry Baker, and Tom Crimmins, all played well on the line for Winslow, as W.H.S. picked up its three conference victories.

The season finale was lost to Flagstaff in a close and very hard-fought game. Ironically, the breaks turned against Winslow as the Eagles picked up five fumbles, while the Bulldogs were penalized excessively.

As a whole, the season was fairly successful. The Bulldogs with a 5-4 record showed much promise which wasn't realized. But wait 'til next year . . .

JUNIOR VARSITY

A STEADY ATTACK IS VICTORIOUS

Hard-working managers Bob Olson and David McNally relax after the season is over. Next year they and the other juniors will be back to help Winslow attain another successful season.

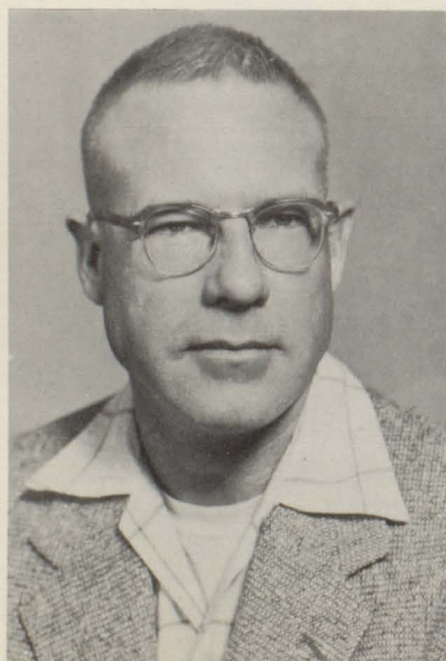

At the beginning of the 1956-57 basketball season, Winslow was deeply mired in the cellar slot. For two years the Bulldogs had taken it on the chin, winning only one conference game in that time. Coach "Doc" Wright came along with a "wonder tonic" to spark the team. The Bulldogs proceeded to win six loop tilts, climaxed by a narrow 36-34 victory over the Conference Champs, Sunnyslope. The tournaments came and Winslow picked up fourth place in the conference tourney. To top it off, W.H.S. grabbed the state Class "A" Consolation title. Yes, the team and coach deserve a well-earned pat for such a successful season.

Crowded out of the Senior registration room are Jerry Baker, Leo Leonard, Bob Pawley, and Paul Brehm. W.H.S. enrolled a whopping 625 students.

We have five minutes to get to class, but it's not always enough time when a locker combination jams.

There's always a long line at the bookstore, but it gives us plenty of time to get re-acquainted after a long summer vacation.

School spirit reaches its peak after an exciting football game at the Bulldog Stadium.

WINSLOW IS CHECKMATED

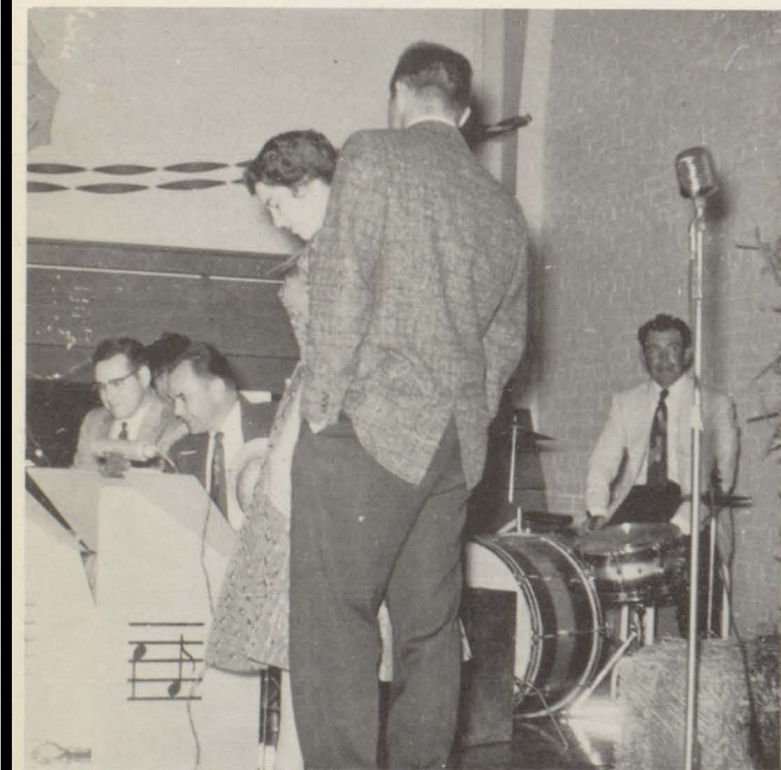

The burning "W" lights the enthusiastic faces of a crowd of boys the night before the Homecoming game between Winslow and Flagstaff.

The band tunes up a few minutes before the Homecoming rally begins. Allen Mulholland booms out the sentiment on the bass drum.

What is the SPIRIT of WHS Homecoming? The rally, the parade, the assembly . . . all these go together to form that intangible quality of pride and belonging which proves that the SPIRIT is the way in which we play the game.

Bobby Sandoval's orchestra plays smooth music at the Homecoming Dance. Terry Lacy and Judy Robinson request a favorite number.

N THE HOMECOMING GAME

A group of students decorates one of the many cars in the Homecoming Parade. Over 75 cars trailed after one another with roaring pipes and blasting horns.

The Homecoming assembly marked the return of many of W.H.S.'s alumni. Interest was high and all felt that this was the best assembly of the whole year.

Gary Phillips and Charla Jo Allen reigned as King and Queen of the Bulldog Rumpus.

Arden McRae, Student Body President, Terry Lacy, Judy Robinson, Jerry Lee Hardy, and Rachel Robson display one of the banners welcoming out-of-town Student Council members to the State Council Convention at Winslow.

Cluttered hallways and busy janitors were mute evidence of the gaiety of the Bulldog Rumpus.

MAKES THE GAME

Alvena Lee, chairman of the Senior football concession committee, makes change as a hungry W.H.S. student waits to return to the game.

Darlene Grace, head majorette, proudly leads the W.H.S. Marching Band in the Homecoming Parade.

As a part of "W" Club initiation, Jim Russ bends over to receive a well-placed swat with a hardwood paddle from Joe Gallegos.

THE SPIRIT OF W.H.S.

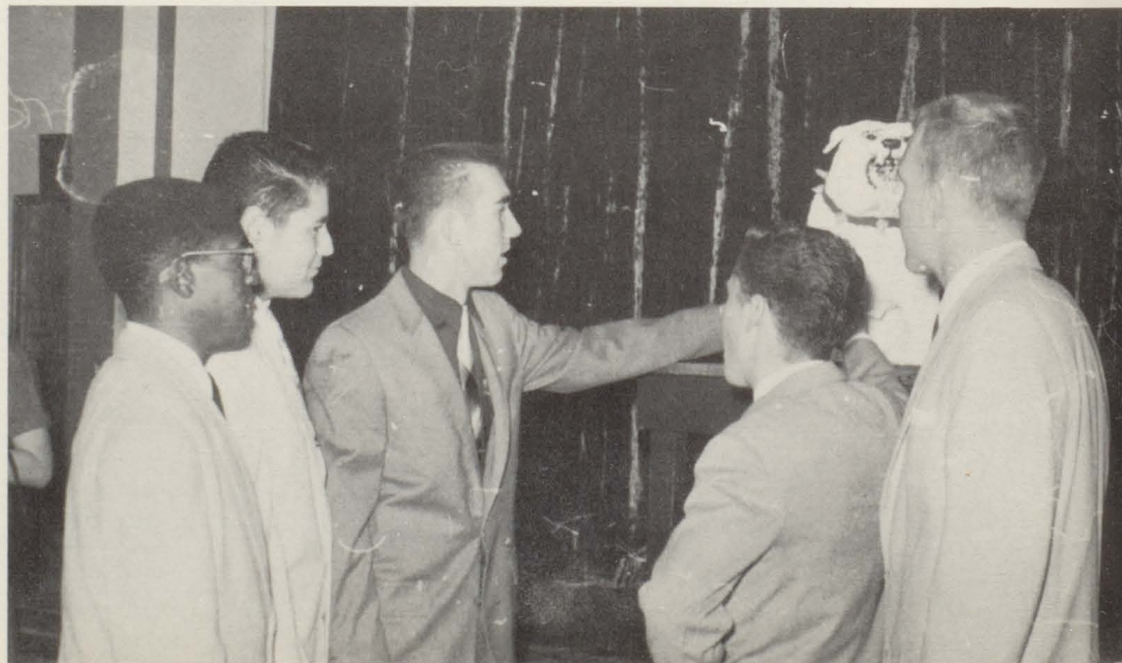

Barbara Armstrong, Miss Merry Christmas, is attended on the float by Rachel Robson, Mollie Simpson, and Ternie Chaves.

In the annual Christmas Concert, Alvena Lee leads the way down the aisle of the auditorium singing, "Angels We Have Heard on High."

Winstel Belton, Ernest Apodaco, Roger Coffee, David Wear and Jerry Baker examine the Football Banquet's central decoration, a model of Winslow's mascot, the bulldog.

WITH COLD DETERMINATION

Tapping feet accentuate the rhythm at one of W.H.S.'s sock dances.

As Christmas vacation finally comes, many of the students are too tired to express any enthusiasm.

Irvin Coin, Earl Ray Cochran and Harvey Moody squeeze out a blue note from their trumpets as they prepare for the band concert.

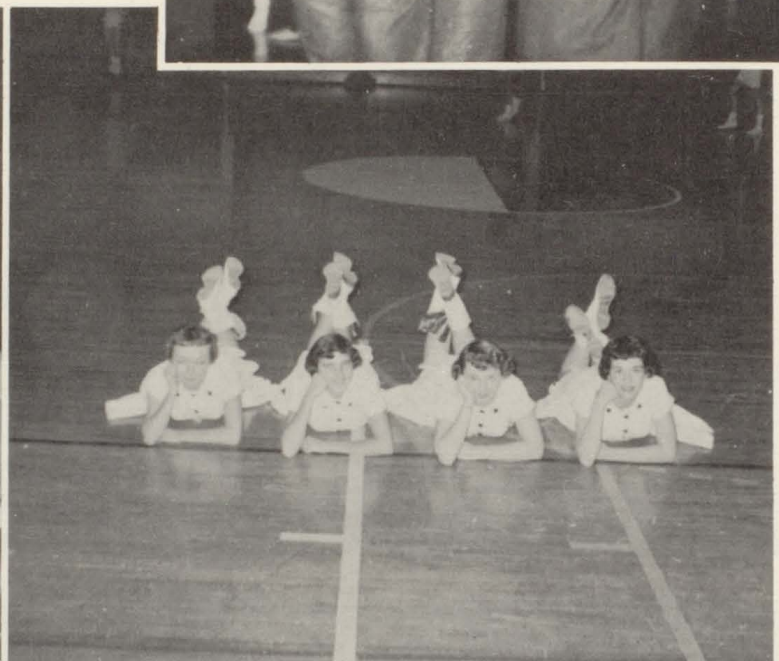

Winslow loses—but this defeat increased our determination to win later in the season.

THE NEW YEAR USHERS IN

The kids at the sock dances always seem to have a good time. The sock dances after every basketball game are one of the reasons for such a big crowd of students.

Joe Gallegos and Arden McRae look on as Moe Carillo scores against Tempe. Winslow finally lost by a few points.

January began a busy schedule for the four varsity cheerleaders, Joni Essig, Sandra Hardin, Loma Lois Lane, and Judy Robinson.

One of the liveliest groups at the basketball games is the band. A specialty of theirs is Dixieland jazz.

A SERIES OF NEW MOVES

Toward the close of the Teen Center New Year's Party, David Wear pauses for a last song and Gary Robb for a last pop.

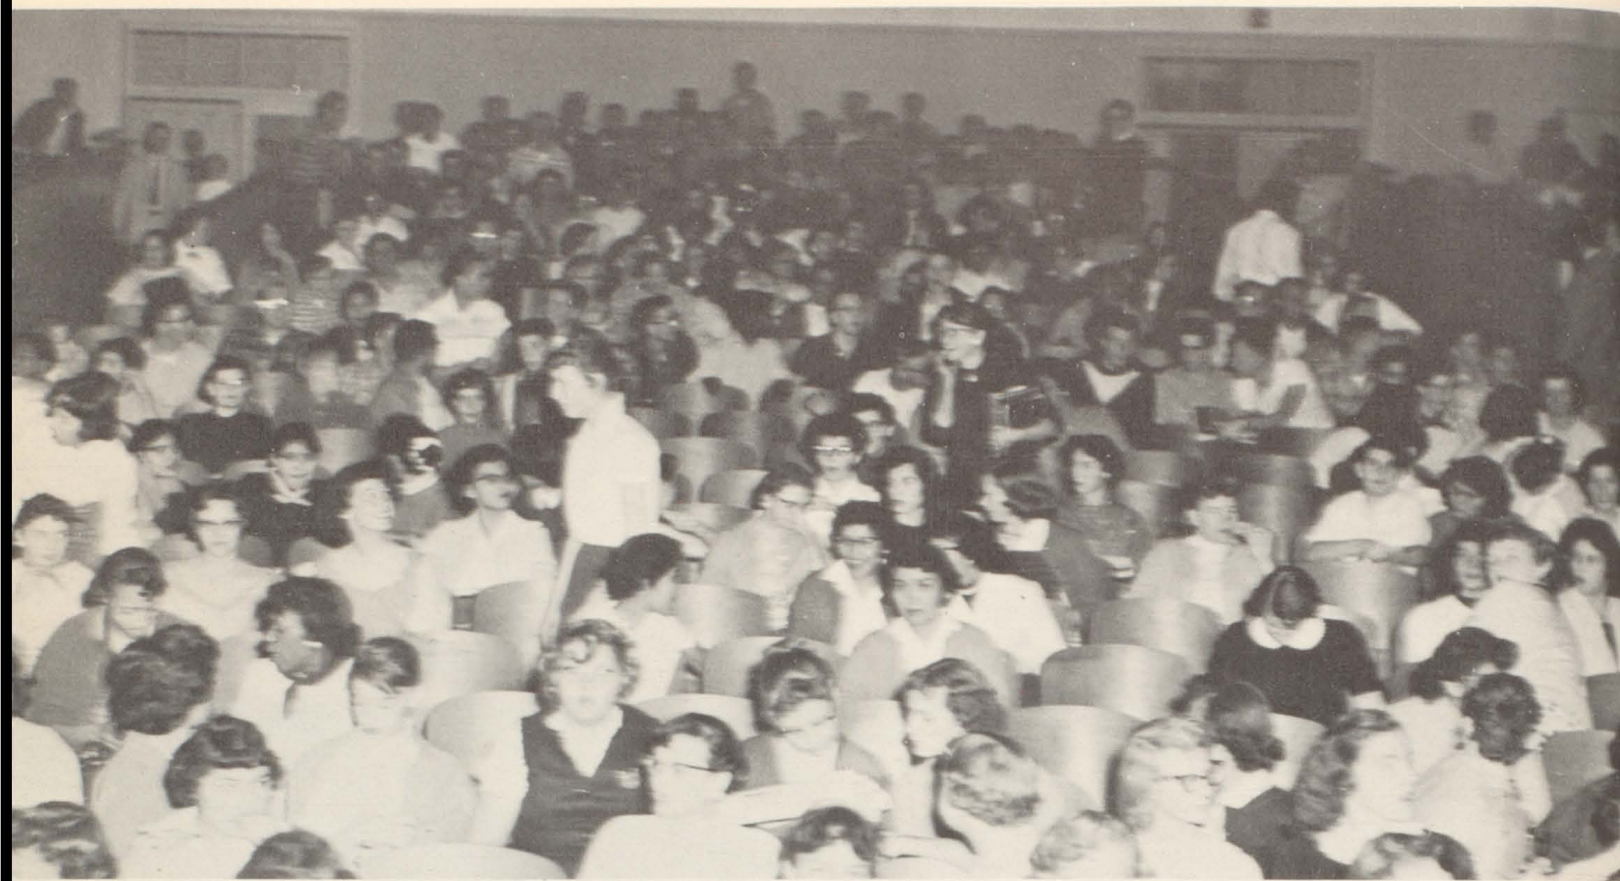

A group of Freshmen renew the old grind as they register for the second semester.

The Teen Center is really rocking as the New Year's celebration gets under way.

FEBRUARY ADDED NEW PIECES TO THE BOARD

THE KING'S MEN

Nearly everybody signed the chain letter to Johnny Scott. It was so long that it reached clear across the hall.

These new students registered for the second semester: Back row: Nicky King, Chester Lockwood, Ralph Lockwood, and Ronnie Lauchner. Front row: Pat House, Fern Jett, Nancy McGetrick, Nellie Heath, Sandra Edwards, and Elizabeth Stirling.

Publishing an annual is an expensive proposition. Only through the generosity of our advertising subscribers have we been able to make ends meet. So it is with deepest appreciation that we say, "Thanks Patrons."

... OR DOES IT?

YOUR LOCALLY MANAGED TAXPAYING UTILITY

Some of the world's political systems just don't add up. So when you hear talk of Utopia (a much used name derived from the Greek for "nowhere"), be ready to question; see if it figures! Chances are it won't add up to the individual freedom of our own system of free enterprise ... won't have as fair a setup as taxation according to income ... won't include a choice of where we work or what we do with our money. Look over our own competitive system closely ... it's not perfect but it works just fine ... and we're free to improve it!
